ARTIFICIAL TEETH PERFECTED!—T. J. CHANDLER, of Rochester, has purchased the exclusive right of Beaver county to use Dr. Stuck's Patent by which he can put up Vulcanite as thin as Gold Plate, with a beautiful enameled polish; and so light and elastic as to perfectly adapt itself to the mouth; obviating all that clumsy and bulky condition, so much complained of heretofore; and lessening their liability to break 100 per cent. Indeed, no one seeing, it would be willing to wear the old style plate any longer than they could conveniently get them exchanged. All branches of Dentistry performed in the best and most substantial manner. In filling teeth with gold, etc., I challenge competition from any quarter, and can refer to living subjects whose fillings have stood between thirty and forty years. Among the number Hon. John Allison will exhibit fillings I inserted some 38 years ago; the teeth as perfect as the day they were filled. Laughing Gas prepared on a new plan, freeing it from all unpleasantness and dangerous effects, making the extraction of teeth a source of pleasure rather than of horror and pain. Prices as low as any good dentist in the State. Office at Beaver Station, Rochester Pa. nov3tf T. J. CHANDLER.

HOUSE CLEANING.

BY A SUFFERER.

The melancholy days have come,
The saddest of the year,
Of cleaning paint and scrubbing floors
And scouring far and near.

Heaped in a corner of the room
The ancient dirt lay quiet,
Nor rose up at the farmer's head,
Nor to the children's riot.

But now the carpets all are up,
And from the stair-case rail,
The mistress calls to man and maid
To wield the broom and pail.

Where are those rooms, those quiet rooms,
The house but now possessed?
Wherein we dwelt, a shrouded pair,
So cosy and contented?

Alas! they're turned all upside down,
That go et suit of rooms,
With slops and suds and soap and sand
And tubs and pails and brooms.

Chairs, tables, stands are standing round
At sixes and at sevens,
While wife and housemaid fly about
Like meteors through the heavens.

The parlor and the chamber floors
Were cleaned two weeks ago;
The carpets shook, the windows washed,
As all the neighbors know.

But still the sanctum had escaped,
The table piled with books,
Pens, ink and paper all about—
Peace in its very looks—

Till fell the women on them all,
As falls the plague on men,
And then they banished all away—
Books, paper, ink and pen.

And now, when comes the master home,
As come he must o' nights,
To find all things are "set to wrongs"
That they have "set to rights;"

When the sound of driving tacks is heard,
Though the house is far from still,
And the carpet woman's on the stairs—
That harbinger of ill,—

He looks for papers, books or bills,
That all were there before,
And sighs to find them in the desk,
Or in the drawer no more.

And then he grimly thinks of her,
Who set this fuss afoot,
And wishes she were tar'd an see
In a very leaky boat.

He meets her at the parlor door,
With hair and cap awry,
With sleeves tucked up and broom in hand,
Defiance in her eye;

He feels quite small, and knows full well
There's nothing to be said;
So, folds his tongue and drinks his tea,
And sneaks away to bed.

Switzerland and Italy within Our Own Borders—The Glories of the Yellowstone.

As the men of enterprise and science advance into the unexplored recesses of our republic—pioneers, road builders, gold searchers—every step brings a new revelation of this republic's wealth and beauty. We, as a people, are regarded by the critics of the mossy overgrown and cabined nations of Continental Europe as given to exaggeration "The special intellectual foible of the Americans," says the London Spectator, "is their admiration for the grandiose." Yet we cannot write the plain discoveries recorded in the Herald without seeming to the foreign mind to indulge in grandiose rhetoric. Every day seems to bring forth a new wonder and the time is coming quickly when the tides of health-desiring and wonder-seeking travel will be from Europe to America.

Why, for instance, should we go to Switzerland to see the mountains, or to Iceland for geysers? Thirty years ago the attraction of America to the foreign mind was Niagara Falls.—Now we have attractions which diminish Niagara into an ordinary exhibition. The Yo Semite, which the nation has made a park, the Rocky Mountains and their singular peaks, the canyons of the Colorado, the Dalles of the Columbia, the giant trees, the lake country of Upper Minnesota, the country of the Yellowstone, with their beauty, their splendor, their extraordinary and sometimes terrible manifestations of nature, form a series of attractions possessed by no other nation in the world. When that famous city-item reporter, Charles Dickens, came here over thirty years ago, he was taken in state to see a Missouri prairie. He made an elaborate record of the disappointment it caused him and his failure to see anything to compare with the glen of Glencoe, in Scotland. The thought that our fathers were so ignorant of their own country as to regard a prairie its rarest attraction is not without humor, and we can well pardon the absence of any enthusiasm on the occasion of the stately visit, and the desire of Mr. Dickens to kill the tediousness of the journey by champagne and comic songs. But we really had little more than a prairie and some long, narrow, muddy, uninteresting rivers to show to the foreigner thirty years ago. The West was an unknown land to us. There was nothing but "desolation" beyond the Mississippi; and as to the Pacific, the Mexicans and Spaniards were in possession, and we had not fought our war for Texas and California. As we have said, why go to Switzerland to see the Alps? There is no exhilaration of air or beauty of scenery in the Alpine regions that we have not in Colorado. Within three or, by easy stages, four days from New York, the traveler finds himself stepping from a luxurious palace car into Denver, and from Denver sweeps a view that has no parallel in the world. Mountains and peaks, with every conceivable variety of color and beauty, stretching for a hundred miles north and south, their tops covered with perpetual snow. The mountain parks invite him for a summer's holiday. If he would fish, there are trout in the streams. If he would hunt, there are deer on the mountains and buffaloes on the plains, and no angry Bergh to molest or make afraid. If he has scientific tastes, the rocks will tell him a geological story; the quartz formations, will speak of the hidden riches of the earth, the flora will be of profit and instruction. The air is pure and life-giving, and acts upon the nerves like champagne. Far beyond Switzerland, far beyond the Tyrol, or the Highlands, or the Lake country, or Norway, Colorado stands to-day inviting the tired citizen to come and find rest and health in the midsummer months.

Colorado is scarcely a new story, and we make this allusion as a hint to those of our readers who are wandering where to go in the summer. But here we have really a new story, told us by General Phil, Sheridan, who sent out an expedition to see, and whose report is in print. A day or two since the Senate passed a bill as setting apart as a public park, to the uses of the people of the United States forever, what we are in the habit of calling "the Yellowstone country." The passage of the act was wise, for as we read the reports published by General Sheridan, we find an aggregation of curiosities and natural phenomena in this proposed park that has no parallel in the world. As we peruse the precise and cold and formal words of these official reports we feel the glow and color of the Arabian Nights, or the legends of the Oriental nation. Those of our enthusiasts who care to found a new religion upon refined principles of eternal damnation will welcom the Yellow-stone discoveries. For here are what we call "Sulphur Mountains," with marvelous deposits of brimstone; the earth covered with boiling springs, caverns of pure crystalized sulphur, the air dense with the fumes of sulphuretted hydrogen. "There was one spring having regular pulsations like an engine, giving off large quantities of steam, which would issue forth with the roar of a hurricane; a steam volcano in reality; with deep vibrations in the subterranean caverns far away beneath the hills." What an opportunity for a powerful preacher to inculcate the doctrines of eternal punishment, the vengeance of an angry God and the sure reward of all sins! Now that the movement towards secession and evangelical reformation is seen in many of our churches, here is an opportunity for an exodus as marked as that of Joseph Miller or Brigham Young.

Then we pass to the scenes which have no theological associations.—Why do we go to the Rhine to see the Dome of Cologne or the castled crag of Drachenfels? Here are turrets of granite and feldspar and castles of basaltic rock, lifted high into the air for hundreds of feet, carved with a surer hand and clearer eye then ever fashioned church or stronghold. One for instance, which is thus described: "Turret or tower, one hundred and twenty feet in circumference; broken and crumbling masses of rock suggesting a battlemented turret; the whole structure graceful in proportions and details, resembling an old castle somewhat in ruins, even to the portholes, made by small apertures in turret and base." Then we have pyramids of basaltic columns, as massive and vast as those of Egypt, says the writer, and of many colors mainly of a deep red tint from the salts of iron, but unfrequently of a delicate gray, saffron, a light gamboge, pink and green, and the ashes of roses. Then we have cascades and rocky gorges and caverns. The cascades especially! One fall one hundred and fifteen feet, another three hundred and fifty feet, ending in sheeted foam and rainbow-tinted spray before it reaches the ground. There are valleys of chalk-colored rocks more marvellous than the Dover cliffs Shakespear paints in his immortal poetry, and volcanoes ever throwing up mud of the consistency of thick cream, so that the surrounding forest trees are covered with mud on their topmost branches. In one place there are streams and spouting springs of hot water; five streams of boiling water, we are told, in porcelain channels of many hues, from bright saffron to deep vermillion, rippling over cascades worn into the terraced sides of the rocks. Over this rise masses of vapor shadowing other waters of ultramarine blue, with rings of rainbow tints, yellow, orange and red of "astonishing beauty," becoming bright vermillion and then silvering into a clearness like that of the crystal and a color like the turquoise.

All of this so far above the level of the sea that every night in the year brings frost! But the air is so clear and gentle and rarified that although the morning shows the delicate-tinted flower to be fretted with frost, as though traced with delicate lacework, the sun disolves the frost as though it were a dew, without tinging the bloom of the flower or withering a leaf or stem. And we come to the geysers, the most extraordinary phenomenon of all. Looking from one point—an extinct volcanic crater, called, queerly enough, "Old Faithful"—the eye takes in the whole geyser valley, with its thousand steam jets and graceful fountains, nestled between high hills covered with foliage. It is hard to write of these geysers without our imagination carrying us away. There is the old "Comet Geyser," for instance, who has made his own reputation already. A roar like that of a tornado and a stream leaping two hundred feet into the air, throwing out masses of steam—only think of it! Not to speak of one mud spring, as yet unnamed, but certainly deserving great renown, for this spring throws up at least a thousand jets of steam within a space of one hundred and fifty feet, discharging minute particles of fine clay, of the purest white and orange and pink, ready for the moulder to work into the porcelain.

So we might continue this story for there is really no end to it. Nature in a fantastic mood had led her way in this strange country, and future ages will find the pilgrim looking for the wonderful and awe inspiring; the man of science seeking to read the riddles of our mysterious planet; the weary worker craving a summer's rest; the stricken invalid yearning for the health restoring waters and vapors and medicinal springs which here abound. We as yet scarcely know anything of the Yellowstone. The Indians occupy the approaches to the region, and thus far it has only been seen by armed men and road builders, forcing their way into the wilderness to find a path for the northern road to the Pacific. Every day these pioneers of enterprise and civilization make an advance, and as we have said, each step developes some new wonder of nature. In a few years the locomotive will carry the homes of civilization into these hidden and forbidden territories, the Indian will be forced into countries nearer the setting sun, and the region so wisely set apart

ELSEWHERE, in the ARGUS to-day, will be found the resolutions of the State Convention of the Republican party, held at Harrisburg last week. No Republican in the State, we presume, has any fault to find with these resolutions, but a portion of the ticket nominated by that convention does not give general satisfaction. The nominee for Governor (General Hartranft) at this particular time, does not possess the confidence of a large number of the Republicans of the State, and very many of the Republican papers have already caused this fact to be generally known. It is true the Evans investigating committee exonerate Auditor General Hartranft and State Treasurer Mackey from having had anything to do with the Evans swindle; but, leaving out of the account entirely the letters, statements and figures published a short time ago in the New York Sun directly charging these State officials with being Evans' confederates, and notwithstanding the exoneration of the committee, there are a great many persons who do now and will persist in believing that the Evans plundering operation was not carried on since 1867, and Hartranft and Mackey wholly oblivious of it the while. These two persons were the finance officers of the Commonwealth, and how two or three millions of dollars could be put into the State Treasury vaults through Evans' collections at Washington, and two hundred and ninety thousand dollars retained by the collector, without these financial officers knowing anything at all about it, is too abstruse a problem for the general public to comprehend. Yet, as we have said before, a committee, whose words ought to be worth something, has told us that they inquired into all the particulars, and found that neither Auditor General Hartranft nor Treasurer Mackey had any knowledge of Evans' operations, or shared his plunder. Common sense, we must confess, comes in conflict with the report of the committee here referred to; but, giving General Hartranft the benefit of the doubt, we hoist his name this week along with the rest of his associates on the ticket, with the purpose in our own mind, however, to take it down whenever we are fully satisfied that the Evans committee made a "whitewashing" report in his favor. We want to support none but honest men for official positions, and no amount of badgering will cause us to change our mind on this point.

Judge Mercur, the candidate for Supreme Judge, is said to be an excellent, able man; and the same is said of Gen. Harrison Allen, the candidate for Auditor General. Both of these gentlemen will doubtless receive the full party vote, and be elected by handsome majorities.

THE reason of Governor Geary for refusing to sign the apportionment bill, will be found in his letter to the late Republican State Convention, published elsewhere in this paper. This course on his part leaves the congressional districts in this State as they have been for the last ten years; and as by the late census Pennsylvania has been awarded two more members of Congress than she has heretofore had, it became necessary for the Republican Convention to nominate two candidates to be voted for by the entire people of the State, as no districts are provided for them. There is a probability of the further increase of the congressional representation from this State; as a bill is now pending in congress which, if passed, will have that result. The Governor's action in the premises has frustrated the hopes of many Congressional aspirants, and given life to those of others; and his conduct is censured or applauded accordingly. It is just possible he was not governed in his action by its effect upon candidates, but by the interests of the State at large.

IN another column will be found an editorial from the Harrisburg Telegraph touching the report of the Evans investigating committee. The Telegraph has not been friendly to Governor Geary for some years past, but in this instance it shows a disposition to treat the Governor fairly. The article referred to, corroborates what we have all along believed viz: that the objective point of that committee, was to exonerate the Auditor General and State Treasurer, and implicate Governor Geary.

ONE of the largest Liberal Republican meetings ever held in the city of New York convened in Cooper Institute last Friday. The building was filled to its utmost capacity. Among the prominent political gentlemen on the platform, we notice the names of Horace Greely, Singhir Touey; Moses H. Grinuell, Hiram Barney, Marshall O. Roberts, George Wilkes, Frank Leslie, John A. Dix, &c. Col. F. A. Conkling presided. Senators Trumbull and Schurz addressed the meeting, and were enthusiastically cheered. The resolutions declare that the political action of individuals and conventions should be left free from the influence of political patronage; that business men should not, under fear of unjust official interference with their affairs, be compelled to pay tribute for political purposes; that public officers are or should be erected for public convenience, and not as rewards for partisan services or personal aggrandizement; that acts of officials should be confined within the laws creating such officials; that the triumph of Republican principles is of paramount importance to the country; and that the success of those principles in the approching national election does not depend on any one individual; that the prosperity of the country demands a thorough, radical and immediate reform in all departments of the public service, civil, military and naval, and that the "one term principle" for the Presidential office will conduce more to that end than any other measure. The list of Republican officers who had signed to the call for the Cincinnati convention was read and loudly cheered.

THERE is in every political campaign an extravagant and useless expenditure of money, and already the political sharks are whetting their teeth for the rich plums that are expected to fall from the managers' tables of both political parties this fall. No political campaign can be fought without money, but a liberal and judicious expenditure of it would require only half the sum that is usually squandered. We indorse the views of the Harrisburg Journal, when it says:

"For every dollar legitimately spent in conducting a political campaign, at least five are stolen or misapplied. This money is gathered from the salaries of office-holders and others who subscribe it, with the understanding that it is to be honestly applied. All who know anything about such financiering understand the hocus-pocus by which such funds are wasted and absorbed in impractical ways, and we therefore propose as a remedy, that more attention be paid to the Republican press as an effective auxiliary in conducting campaigns, giving fair proportions of all political funds to such Journals, instead of frittering them away on individuals who devote them to debauchery and drunkenness when they do not sink them to the bottom of their own pockets. Every State, city, borough and county committee will see the force of the suggestion."

THE State Republican Committee, thought a month or two ago that it would never do to allow the people to select their own delegates to the National Convention which meets at Philadelphia in June; hence the Committee resolved that the State Convention must be invested with that privilege and clothed with the performance of that duty. The State Convention, which met at Harrisburg on last Wednesday attended to the matter, and as was naturally expected, some of the delegates chosen are as destitute of good characters as thieves are of honesty. One or two of them at least, could not have received votes enough in their own districts, to have made them frog-pelters, and yet the State Convention allowed these fellows to be imposed upon it as suitable persons to represent the Republicans of their districts in a National Convention. The "ring" men who brought them forward, no doubt knew that a few dollars in hand, would induce them to vote, in the National Convention, for whoever and whatever they were told to.

COL. McClure's political status is just now the subject of frequent telegrams. These generally claim that he is satisfied with his present position, and that he intends supporting Grant for the Presidency in case of his nomination at Philadelphia in June. On the other hand, however, he stated himself on last Friday that he was going to attend the Cincinnati Convention on the 1st of May, and would burn the bridges in his rear.

Col. McClure and other prominent Republicans in this State, we suspect, are on the eve of organizing the Reform movement in Pennsylvania, and we will not be surprised if a call to that end is published this week.

P. S. Since the above was in type the announcement is made that the Liberal Republicans of Pennsylvania will issue a call for a Convention to-day—Wednesday.

WE see by the papers that the late earthquake in California and Syria occurred about the same date, less the time it would take for the tidal wave to traverse the distance between the two points. That there was a connection between them is rendered probable by the news that Mt. Vesuvius has broken out in eruption. It is well-known that there is such a close connection between the eruptions of Vesuvius and earthquakes in Southern Italy, that the former are a certain safeguard against the latter. When the mountain has been silent for a long time, Naples is in danger of an earthquake, but when the safety valve of Vesuvius is open, the danger of violent earthquakes is over. The present eruption of Vesuvius is therefore to be interpreted as the result of forces which, had the eruption not occured, would have resulted in an earthquake. That these forces should manifest themselves nearly simultaneously in California, Syria and Italy, may, of course, be a mere coincidence, but the presumption is certainly otherwise. It would be interesting to know if that isolated volcanic region, Iceland, has also been disturbed. If so, the fact would be a further evidence of the wide spread character of the recent disturbance.

THE April number of the Blackwood's Magazine has a review of the position of the Gladstone Ministry in which the dispute arising out of the Washington Treaty figures conspicuously. The article, which is of course written in the interest of the Tory party, makes the following among other remarks on the Treaty of Washington: "Americans may listen to our plea, that the treaty does not secure to us the conditions which we were made to believe that it secured, and that, as now worded, it does not even express what our Commissioners intended, if indeed, the poor creatures were conscious of any intention beyond the drawing up of a paper which they could induce the American Commissioners to sign. Should the Americans do this, and, as a consequence each nation differing from the other in interpretation of the Treaty, allow the whole agreement to be annulled and another to be framed, then it is highly probable that the second attempt may be successful. We must not of course, conceal from ourselves that there are many courses open to America, by pursuing which she might wound her honor and disastrously embitter the whole contention. Of these the most to be deprecated is one that has been threatened by a portion of the Transatlantic press, viz: To lay the claims as they stand before the arbitrators, leaving it to Great Britain to come into Court or not as she may choose."

HERE AND THERE.

—A terrible railroad disaster occurred Wednesday last, on the New Jersey Midland Railroad. As the train leaving Patterson for Hackensack at 8 A. M. was passing over the river bridge, two and a half miles above Hackensack, the structure suddenly gave way, hurling the train into the water below. Twenty-five or thirty passengers were taken from the wreck in a more or less injured condition.

—The following "Personal" appears in a New York paper: "Will the lady dressed (here follows the inventory of a perfectly lady-like and unostentatious wardrobe) who smiled upon the gent dressed in black velvet coat, with scarlet neck tie, blue and white-striped shirt, mouse-colored pants, patent leather boots and brass seal ring, as she left the Fifth avenue stage at corner of Forty-second street, last Monday morning, please send her address to 'Adorer.'"

—Mr. Sumner has the reputation of being the most constant attendant upon his official duties among all the Senators. Since his illness last spring he has been compelled to be frequently absent from his seat. But previously, with the exception of the time he was disabled, sixteen years ago, and when he was called East to attend his mother during her last sickness, about six years ago, it is said that he has never been absent longer than twenty minutes from the Senate during its session. He has not been inside the House of Representatives for several years.

—Even in Australia there are witnesses who have conscientious scruples about being sworn. The Sydney Mail mentions one of these cautious persons who refused to take an oath in the Gundagi Police Court, which was investigating a case of felony. He said that he observed "the Legislature setting God's laws at defiance, and he did not see why he should be sworn by that name." He had no objection to making an affirmation on the Bible, but this, as he was neither an Atheist nor a Moravian, the Court would not permit. Persisting in this refusal, the Court ordered the officers to lock him up.

This he resisted, and that too so vigorously that the Judge offered to let him go if he would pledge himself never to enter the Court-house again—certainly a curious way of dealing with a recalcitrant witness. Upon this, The Mail inquires with great gravity whether "it would not be better to abolish oaths altogether, making falsehood in the witness-box punishable in a similar manner to perjury." "The State," it observes, "has no power to secure the infliction of punishment in the next world, and has really no spiritual apparatus at command."

—A bank vault in Alexandria, Va., exploded the other day and seriously injured an unfortunate teller named Uhler. There seems to be nothing that is non-explosive now-a-days. Bank vaults used to be regarded as places of safety but no one can Uhlerize them now. This teller went into the vault one evening, turned on the gas and tried to light it, but something was wrong and it would not burn and he did not turn it off again. The next morning he lit a match and opened the vault door to see if it would burn yet. Slowly and sadly they picked him up from among the broken furniture and tried to keep the flesh from peeling off his face until the doctor came.

ANOTHER HORROR!

A Steamboat Blown Up—Burning of the Wreck—Heartrending Scenes—Sixty-six Lives Lost!

CAIRO, ILL., April 11.—The steamer Oceanus, Red River to St. Louis, when near Brooks' point, exploded her boiler, blowing the upper works almost entirely away, immediately after which the boat took fire, burning to the water's edge. Pilot Thompson, of the steamer Jno. Lumsden, lying a few miles below, on seeing the light from the burning wreck, manned a yawl and proceeded up the river to ascertain the cause. He found a small party of survivors on Head Island. He passed on to relieve those on the wreck. Ten or twelve were clinging to the wheel, but the wheel dropped before he reached them, and all but four were lost. He found a deck passenger, name unknown, near the shore, badly scalded, who died before he arrived at Cairo.

The steamer Belle St. Louis, bound up, took nearly all the survivors. Thompson rescued Pilot Harris, who subsequently went to St. Louis on the Marble City. Mr. Latter states that Wiggins, the Red river pilot, was drowned. Harry Triff, the pilot on watch, and also Capt. Reeder were burned in the debris, and were heard calling for help, but the fire had gained such headway that they could not be reached and were burned. Fisher, the carpenter of the ill-fated steamer, reached here on the Shreve. He was not seriously hurt. He states that the second engineer, Alexander Kennedy, was terribly scalded, and was helpless and blind. Fisher put him on a stage plank with other passengers, which soon capsized, drowning several, including Kennedy. Geo. Keithley, the first engineer, is supposed to be lost.—Henry Worsham, first clerk, was not seen after the explosion. He expected to go through from Cairo by rail, but was seen on the boat after leaving here. Charles Worsham, second clerk, Jules Dempwolf, steward, and Charley Muvay, cabin boy, were found dead, floating down the river, all with life preservers on, and were brought here by the steamer Shreve. It is supposed they were chilled to death.

There were five lady passengers. All are supposed to be lost. The bodies of five ladies were seen floating past Washer's landing to-day. Fisher thinks Pilot Harris and himself are the only employes that were saved, though the Belle St. Louis may have picked up some. The officers of the St. Louis state that there were about thirty cabin and thirty-five deck passengers, making, with the crew, nearly one hundred souls, about eighty of whom are supposed to be lost.

The greater portion of the survivors being on the Belle St. Louis, no names of the passengers nor reliable estimate of the lost can be obtained except from here. Fisher describes the effect of the explosion as terrific beyond conception, the whole upper works being lifted bodily and falling on the boats in the water, which were completely shattered. He saved himself by securing a plank and floating until rescued by the yawl of Thompson. He was in bed at the time, and though covered with debris, was only slightly bruised.

Later.—The steamer Grand Tower, just arrived, reports the first engineer and mate saved; also thirty-two other persons on the Belle St. Louis. The second engineer was saved, but died of his injuries.

ST. LOUIS, April 11.—The Democrat's Cairo special relative to the explosion of the steamer Oceanus, says Fisher, the carpenter, describes the scene as very terrible and heartrending. The river around the wreck was covered with debris—baggage, bed clothing, beds, &c., much of it burning. The cabin and about half of the deck had floated off, and was burning. The Captain, in the midst of the fire, was screaming for help. Men and women in the water were throwing up their hands and sinking to rise no more. Six or eight persons were on the forecastle, and Fisher got a stage-plank, and all except himself got upon it, but as soon as it struck the water the plank careened and all upon it perished.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

Resolutions Adopted—Letter of Gov. Geary on the Apportionment Bill.

Mr. P. C. Shannon, of Allegheny, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, reported for the consideration and action of the Convention the following

RESOLUTIONS:

1. That we reaffirm our devotion to the principles of the Republican party, and our belief that the continued existence of that party is necessary to the maintenance and success of those principles. The grand and fundamental idea of the equality of all men in political rights is not professed by any other political party, and can be sustained faithfully only by those who are committed sincerely to it.

2. That the adoption of the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution of the United States has not been sufficiently acquiesced in by all to render certain and secure their permanent incorporation in that instrument, and hence the administration of the government can safely be entrusted only to that party which is learly and beyond question committed to them, and the policy necessary to put them into successful operation.

3. That we are now more than ever called to sustain the policy of national protection to American industry. If the laborer is worthy of his hire, and a fair day's work entitles the worker to a fair day's pay we must continue to throw the protective arm of the government around those who toil for their daily bread. The protective policy alone makes labor contented and capital secure. It creates employment certain and pay ample and satisfactory; whilst free trade means that our laborers and mechanics must either work for lower wages or that our factories should be closed through foreign competition, and the workingmen of the country deprived of employment.

4. That the public lands belong to the people, and should be reserved for the people. We, therefore, pronounce most decidedly against any further appropriation of the public lands in behalf of corporations or individuals. All lands not sold according to law should be open to pre-emption and actual settlement.

5. That we demand a continued adherence to the policy hitherto pursued, under Republican auspices, in our State and in the nation, of a steady and gradual reduction of the public debt. The interests of the people require that the most rigid economy should be practiced in the administration of both the National and State governments, and that taxes should be reduced in both as rapidly as is consistent with the honorable maintenance of the public credit, and the certain extinguishment of the public debt.

6. That we are earnestly in favor of the speedy possible removal of all disabilities and restrictions, and to the prompt passage of the bill for that purpose now before Congress.

7. That we heartily approve of the act of General Grant in fighting to the finish of civil-service reform. We demand that that plan, or any other that may be substituted in its place as better, shall have a fair and unembarrassed trial; that every effort shall be made to secure competent men for the public service, and that fidelity and incorruptibility shall be deemed qualifications as essential as competency and intelligence.

8. That the Republican party has given full evidence during the past eleven years of its ability to administer the Government honestly, faithfully and successfully. It has, while it has maintained the honor of our national credit at home and abroad, preserved the Union from disruption and restored it to its integrity, secured to a class re and condition of men the rights given to them by their Maker, and, having proclaimed liberty throughout all the land, unto all the inhabitants thereof, has given to that people a degree of self-respect which it was entitled to, and we, therefore, in its name, calm from the people a continuance of their confidence and fearlessly challenge the investigation of their acts.

9. That we point with pride to the record of General Grant's administration of the national government. Not only has the weight of national taxation been also almost wholly removed from the people's shoulders, but three hundred millions of the national debt have been paid off—a result never before attained by any other people under like circumstances, and for which we are indebted to the rigid honesty, strict economy and sterling integrity with which the President has brought to the administration of national affairs.

10. That as we will stand by the government in the foreign policy so firmly marked out and adhered to by the President, so we will support with equal fidelity the President himself in his hands, and the flag under which he never suffered defeat, will not be dishonored while he is kept in the field.

12. That it is congratulation to the people of Pennsylvania on the final accomplishment of the railroad Convention to revise and amend the constitution of the State, and we recommend a free support on the part of our friends to the adoption of the changes proposed by the Convention, and to the election of the delegates chosen in their respective districts—committed to the policy of incorporating in that instrument a general law for the organization of railroad companies.

13. That we hereby declare our opposition to every effort to withdraw from the public ground any of the Commonwealth, either by gift, sale, exchange or otherwise, any of the lands, securities or moneys now pledged to it, and through it to the payment of the public debt of the Commonwealth, and our inflexible determination to preserve the same inviolable, for the fulfillments of the Common wealth's obligations.

14. That the oil producing, mining, lumbering and manufacturing interests of the State require protection from the efforts of dangerous combinations, and that such has already been done by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth as will protect said interests both in their development and in the fruitful exportation of their products to market.

15. That the thanks of our party are due to Governor John W. Geary, under whose intelligent principles have been successfully conducted the affairs of Pennsylvania; the State debt has been largely reduced during his administration; our sanitary organs have been carefully cherished and extended, and our laws have been efficiently and wisely observed. Under the necessity of parting with him as Governor, in conformity with the Constitution of the State, Governor Geary will carry with him in his retirement the heartfelt wishes of the people for his future prosperity and happiness.

16. That we present with peculiar pride, and confidence of their success, the names of General John F. Hartranft for Governor, Ulysses Mercur for Supreme Judge, Gen. Harrison Allen for Auditor General, and the gentlemen this day named for delegates at large to the Constitutional Convention. They are all men worthy of an active and united support at the hands of the Republican party, and we call upon our friends throughout the State to rally as one man to secure their triumphant election.

17. That the President of this Convention, in connection with the candidates this day nominated for State officers, appoint the chairman and one member of the State Central Committee, and that the State Committee be made up on the basis adopted last year, and the two years preceding.

LETTER FROM GOVERNOR GEARY.

A committee of the Convention having waited on Gov. Geary concerning the apportionment bill, the following letter was either publicly received from him:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, April 10, 1872.

GENTLEMEN:—Your communication of this date in reference to the pending bill, providing for the apportionment of the State into Congressional districts, and asking what action I contemplate on the Congressional apportionment bill recently passed by the Legislature, the bill referred to was not received by me until the last day of the session of the Legislature adjourned. Notwithstanding that fact, I have bestowed upon it, and upon the various applications which have been made to me for executive approval and disapproval, considerable attention. Although, ordinarily, opinions upon such subjects are reserved until the next meeting of the Legislature, I have thought it proper, under the circumstances, to call the attention of all parties to be informed of my proposed action in the premises; and I, therefore, in response to your communication, inform you that I shall withhold my approval from the apportionment bill, if approved at all, will not be signed until after the next annual election.

A fair proportion is now pending before Congress to increase the number of Representatives in the United States, distributing them among the several States having the largest surplus population according to the act of apportionment, approved 24 February, 1872. I am informed the Judiciary Committee of the House has reported favorably upon this proposition, giving Pennsylvania an additional number of Congressmen, thus increasing our representation to twenty seven; and this movement, if adopted by Congress, would require a readjustment of the State. Should the present State enactment be approved, the advocates of this additional representation would urge the fact as an argument against the increase, whereby we might be deprived of one Congressman.

I am free to say that in withholding my approval, as here indicated, because Congress in the act of 23 February, 1872, apportioning Representatives among the several States has already provided for the existing condition of things as follows:

That in the elect on of Representatives to the Forty-third Congress in any State where by this law is given an increased number of representatives, the additional representative or representatives allowed to such State may be elected by the State at large, and the other representatives to which the State is entitled by the districts as now prescribed by law in said State, unless the Legislature of said State shall otherwise provide before the time fixed by law for the election of representatives thereto.

Most respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
JOHN W. GEARY.

HEARSAY EVIDENCE CREDITED.

The Governor Denied a Hearing.

[From the Harrisburg Telegraph.]

The course of the Telegraph on the collection of the war claims, and of George O. Evans, the accredited agent of the State, is so well known to its readers that we deem it unnecessary to define it again; and whilst we think that all parties connected with that transaction have committed gross errors, to use the mildest term, we cannot permit the report of the committee to go unnoticed.

A large mass of evidence was collected by the committee, all of which will officially appear in print within a short time, and we shall as soon thereafter as possible, publish the most important parts; all tending to corroborate the statements already made, that Evans had collected a large amount of money, out of which he had retained nearly three hundred thousand dollars, under the plea that he was entitled to ten per cent. on all the money paid by the United States to Pennsylvania, whether collected by him or not. This claim being so unreasonable, was disallowed by the accounting officers of the State, but as Evans had the money in his possession, they had no means of getting it from him; and, indeed, he defied them to do so.

After a great deal of trouble, the testimony of George O. Evans was procured in the city of New York, and in answer to various questions as to whom he had paid money, he said he had paid money to—

Dr. C. Forney	$6,000 00
S. P. Brown, Washington	20,000 00
Dr. Trimble, Washington	6,000 00
J. R. Dungilnson	2,500 00
	$34,500 00

These thirty-four thousand five hundred dollars were paid to the gentlemen named for services rendered, and as a matter of personal friendship; and Mr. Evans declared, in the most positive terms, that not a dollar was divided with any State official of Pennsylvania. Here, then, was the most positive assertion, under oath, that Governor Geary, or any other official, never received a dollar.

The committee then called before them, a day or two before the adjournment, S. P. Brown, the gentleman refered to in Mr. Evans's testimony, and Brown swore that Evans and himself were co-partners in the collection of these claims; that himself and D. C. Forney had concocted the plans for the passage of the resolution, and had Evans appointed; that Evans was to divide with him on the basis of five per cent. and that he had only paid him $18,000 (instead of $20,000 as Evans swore). Mr. Brown further stated that Evans left a memorandum with him on which "appeared the name of 'Governor Geary and friend' for $30,000; D. C. Forney, $6,000; J. Robley Dungilson, $5,000, and 'other parties' $8,000. He subsequently stated to me that he was to procure the publication of the life of Governor Geary, and that a large portion of the $30,000 was to be appropriated to that purpose. In a subsequent conversation Mr. George O. Evans told me that he had an interview with a publishing house, the name of which he mentioned (I think it was Appleton & Co., but am not certain), and that it would cost $40,000 to publish the life of Governor Geary, being about $10,000 more than he had anticipated. Another consideration he was to give to Governor Geary was either to purchase a controlling interest in a paper in Harrisburg, or to start a new one, to bring Governor Geary's name prominently before the people as a candidate for the Presidency. This proposed paper was to be run wholly in the interest of Governor Geary, and to be under his (the Governor's) control."

This is, then, the story of a confederate of Evans in the collection of the claims, with whom, as he alleges, Evans failed to settle. He makes a directly contrary statement to that of his principal, Evans, and on this hearsay evidence the committee found their argument, and censure the Governor in the severest manner.

The Governor and his friends allege that they never heard of this S. P. Brown, that they don't know him now, and never knew that he was before the committee at all, or heard of his evidence until the report was published. If this is correct the committee acted very improperly, to say the least. The Executive of the Commonwealth was entitled to a proper defense, and the committee have certainly not treated him fairly in so important a matter wherein he stands charged with a high crime.

We repeat that the Telegraph is no man's organ; but justice to the Governor required that he should have been heard in the premises. The report of the committee containing these charges was read in the Senate but half an hour before the adjournment, and the Governor had no time to reply to it; but we hope that he will be able to refute successfully the charges made by S. P. Brown.

POLITICAL.

The Liberal Movement in Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 9.—The State Register of to-day says, editorially: An immense Liberal Republican movement is in progress in this city, and in a few days a call will be issued calling a State Convention to select delegates to the Cincinnati Convention. The names to the call will embrace about all the prominent Republicans in this State. Some of the names to this document are already on the "regular" call for the State Convention of May 22.

A GUN FOR CHAS. FRANCIS ADAMS.

Massachusetts General Disarmed—Going for Grant—A Spirited Letter.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 9.—Gen. W. F. Bartlett of Pittsfield, one of the most gallant of the fighting soldiers in the war, sends a communication to The Republican concerning a statement that he was a candidate for delegate to the Philadelphia Convention, and would go for Grant. He declares himself as follows:

As I had some time previous to the date of the above article declined to allow the use of my name, I cannot suppose that the selection would be approved. But it seems to me only the part of candor to declare that, while I am flattered to learn that my name has been considered in connection with so distinguished a position, I am not to be counted on to go for Grant, if that means, as I fear it does, blind allegiance to the group of politicians under whose control Gen. Grant has unfortunately placed himself, and whose solicitude seems to be greater for the Republican party than for the welfare of the country. But I am willing, as I know thousands of other good soldiers and good Republicans, now counted on to go for Grant," and good men of all parties, are waiting, for the nomination of a man whose administration shall be above suspicion, not above investigation; who cannot be used or abused by any set of selfish politicians of any party; who will illustrate the true meaning of "Civil Service Reform" by benefiting and enriching the nation and not the individual; whose ability as a statesman is balanced by his integrity as a man; when great services to his country in the darkest days of our civil war, when single-handed at the English Court he stemmed the tide of foreign intervention with skill and fearlessness unsurpassed, can never be forgotten by those to whom the honor of their country is as dear as their success; whose name is Charles Francis Adams, and whom, if the Cincinnati Convention shall have the wisdom to nominate, the people will have the independence to elect.

W. F. BARTLETT.

A Piquant Chapter in Political History.

From the Cincinnati Tribune.

The Republican party in Pennsylvania, as in New York, has its two factions, nearly equally divided, which have been known for many years as the Cameron and Cameron faction. They were distinguished from each other mainly by the greater extent to which money was used by the Cameron party in compassing political objects. Cameron more than any other eminent American politician, has that sort of honesty which leads a man, when he wants anything in politics, to pay for it. The fact that Pennsylvania cast its vote for him in the Chicago Convention against Lincoln for the Presidency caused President Lincoln to appoint him to a place in his Cabinet, on the same principle as he appointed Seward, Chase, and Bates, who were his more prominent rivals, in order to concentrate all the diverse elements of the Republican party in counseling and supporting his Administration. The public censures of the House of Representatives induced President Lincoln to ask Mr. Cameron's withdrawal from the Cabinet, the real grounds being that the mode in which he used his powers as Secretary of War tended too much to fill the pockets of his retainers. After a few months' trial of the Cameron counsels, and experience of the birds of prey who hovered over the War Department while Cameron "nested" there, Mr. Lincoln concluded that Simon was a very fit person to represent the United States at St. Petersburg, that being the Siberia to which our President usually exile patriots who are either worthless or mischievous. Mr. Lincoln regarded "tented soreheads." The largest meeting in Cooper Institute since the war, and one equal to the best in every element of respectability, influence, and devotion to Republican principles is the fitting reply. Many resident of New York ever had a doubt as to the purpose of her best citizens to keep the work of Reform from stopping at the city limits, this meeting resolves his doubt. If any ever had a fear that Administration patronage, or the crack of the party whip by the party upstarts over the party leaders, could silence or overawe the Reformers, this meeting allays his fear. If any needed the stimulus of seeing tens of thousands cooperating to the National purification, this meeting gives him the cheer that comes with the inspiration of numbers, and eloquence, and contagious enthusiasm.

Responses to the Cincinnati call multiply on all hands. But we reckon this the most substantial impetus the good work has yet received,—the most auspicious beginning any great political campaign has had for many a year. It means that the Cincinnati Convention is to be a success alike in numbers, representative character and generous purpose. Let it be equally wise, and it will name the next President of the United States.

And now freinds in New York and every State! to work! Of numbers, resolve, enthusiasm, we have enough. But we confront a compact band of office-holders, with their office-seeking allies and dependents, holding in their grasp the splendid organization of a noble party, whose name has been for a dozen years the unfailing watchword of victory. They were already alarmed; last night will arouse them to their most desperate efforts. We must organize, and at once. The campaign is to be aggressive attack is the key of the situation.—*N. Y. The Butler County Citizen says: It is again our sad duty to chronicle another death by accidental shooting—to record the awful event of an old friend hurried into eternity, without a moment's warning. The victim of the sad occurrence this time was Mr. John A. Brown, of Jackson township, in this county. WALL PAPER AND REMOVAL.—Milo A. The same may be said of their stock of Oil Cloths, Window Shades, and general Stationery. They also give special attention to making Picture Frames, and furnishing moulding for the same.

A FRESH arrival of new goods at the Cheap Store of Will. A. Smith. Near Diamond, Rochester, Pa. apr17;2w

We direct the attention of the public in Rochester and vicinity to the fact that H. S. Hibbard has removed his store to the room formerly occupied by F. A. Fortune, where he has opened a large stock of new Dry Goods, Millinery, Notions, Gent's Furnishing Goods, Drugs, and Light Groceries. The room is large, commodious, well lighted and affords a splendid opportunity to show goods. Mr. Hibbard keeps a lady clerk to wait on lady customers, and as he is a courteous and accommodating gentleman we have no doubt his will become a very popular place of business.

Castoria—a substitute for Castor Oil, a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate and operates when all other remedies fail. The Proprietor has expended fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria contains no opium, paregoric, paregoric, stomach aches, cramps and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its operation, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We challenge the world to contradict this statement, and defy competition. Let it be tried in the absence of any other article, and if it does not do all we claim, it will be returned to us and the money will be refunded. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. ap10;4w

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters, a remedy which is making its way into nearly families just now. From all other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the Vinegar Bitters, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. ap10;4w

Personal.—Our fellow-citizen Capt. Eberhart of New Brighton, who has been Principal of the Kittanning Public Schools since the spring of 1869, has just got through with the regular yearly examinations of his pupils, and in a late Kittanning paper we find this favorable notice of him:

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL EXAMINATION.

To give some idea of the proficiency arrived at by the scholars in our Public Schools under the management of Prof. Eberhart as exhibited at the examination last week, we give the following from the authentic report of the examination in Room No. 8.

Of two classes examined in higher Arithmetic 97 per cent. of the problems were solved; and 96¼ per cent. of the definitions answered correctly.

In General History 85 per cent. of the questions were answered correctly.

In Natural philosophy 93 per cent. of the questions were correctly answered; and in grammar 86 per cent.

This exhibit shows a degree of proficiency seldom reached in any school and is alike creditable to teachers and scholars.

We but repeat the universal remark when we say that the Directors have been exceedingly fortunate in securing the services of the present Principal, and that his place would be hard to supply.

The above is quite complimentary, but is no more, we know, than the Captain justly merits. We are pleased to know that any of our citizens are held in such high estimation abroad.

School Exercises.—On Thursday evening of last week, the pupils of Miss Lidie Llebendorfer's school in Franklin township had their Examination and Exhibition in the Winebrennarian Church. The exercises—consisting of the examination of classes, declamations, essays, dialogues & music—were instructive and entertaining. Excellent order was maintained throughout, and a deep interest was manifested in the performances. Miss Liebendorfer is a teacher of several years' experience; and this evening's exercises added to her reputation as a teacher, while they reflected honor upon her pupils as well.

The County Superintendency.—As most of our School Directors will feel interested—and all should be—in learning the qualifications of the several candidates before them for County Superintendent we give place to the following recommendation from the State Superintendent regarding Prof. Eberhart of New Brighton:

DEPARTMENT OF COMMON SCHOOLS,
HARRISBURG, Aug. 31, 1870.

The bearer, Mr. G. L. Eberhart, has been County Superintendent of schools in the county of Mercer in this State, State Superintendent of schools in Georgia, under the direction of the Freedmen's Bureau, and is now superintendent of the union schools of the borough of Kittanning. I have had good opportunities of learning how he discharged his duties in these several positions, and it gives me pleasure to say that he is a good scholar, an efficient teacher, and a very skillful manager of schools.

J. P. WICKERSHAM,
State Supt. Com. Schools.

Prof. Eberhart is a native of Beaver county, and has resided here all his life with the exception of six years spent in Mercer county.—Beaver County Press. [apr17-2w.

The house of Mr. George Armstrong of Slippery rock township, Butler county, was consumed by fire on last Wednesday morning, the 3d inst. Much that was in the house, as furniture, books, stoves, bedsteads, etc., was also lost. The property was insured, and the loss will be at least partly covered by the insurance.

A Letter Written by General Washington.—We are indebted to Mrs. Judge Cunningham of this place, for the following original letter written by General George Washington to Mathew Carey of Philadelphia. Its contents are interesting, and if any of our readers desire to see the hand-writing of "The Father of his Country," they can do so by calling at the ARGUS office.—The letter, a great many years ago, came into the possession of the late Benjamin Chew, who afterwards presented it to Judge Thomas Cunningham of Beaver. The latter had it framed, and at the present time it is in an excellent state of preservation. Following is the letter:

"MOUNT VERNON, 15th March, 1785.

SIR: I purposed, so soon as I understood you intended to become the publisher of a newspaper in Philadelphia, to request that a copy of your weekly production might be sent to me. I was the more pleased with this determination when, by a letter from my friend the Marquis de Lafayette, I found he had interested himself in your behalf.

It has so happened that my Gazettes from Philadelphia, whether from inattention at the printing or post-offices, or other causes, come very irregularly to my hands. Let me pray you, therefore, to address those you send me, in the appearance of a letter. The coarse, common paper, usually applied, will do equally well for the cover. It has sometimes occurred to me that there are persons who, wishing to read newspapers without bearing the expense of paying for them, make free with those which are addressed to others. Under the garb of a letter it is not presumable this liberty would be taken.

I am, sir, y'r. most obd't. serv't,
GEO. WASHINGTON.

Mr. Matthew Carey, Printer
of the Even'g Herald."

An Exciting Scene.—Narrow Escape from Drowning.—Last Wednesday afternoon a Mr. George Day, of Rochester, caught a couple of logs as they were floating down the Ohio at or near the wharf-boat at that place. The river was high and the wind blew a perfect gale at the time. Having caught the logs, he thought to float them down stream a few rods to an eddy where they could be securely fastened. While in the act of doing this, and while on the logs himself, a huge wave struck the timbers and floated them out into the swift current. No aid could be rendered him, and he went down the stream very rapidly, holding tightly to the logs. After going down a considerable distance, the Rochester ferry-boat put out after him, and it was not until the mouth of the Raccoon creek, (some two or three miles down) was reached that he was overtaken. When taken from his perilous situation, and put on board the ferry-boat, he had already become so chilled that he was neither able to speak nor stand on his feet. Restoratives, however, were applied and he was soon "himself again." He will, no doubt, remember that trip down the Ohio for many years to come.

THE REIGN OF TERROR. No. 3.

BY HOMO.

THE COMMUNE.

The question may be asked: 'Is the Commune elsewhere than in France?' Yes, it is everywhere! All the elements herein and previously enumerated are necessarily Communal in their nature. This may readily be discovered in the close relationship which they sustain to each other which will soon appear more fully. The Commune is the logical sequence of the others. The principles of this terrible confederacy were clearly enunciated during the struggle at Paris, which ensued at the close of the Franco-Prussian war.—The motto of the Communists was:

"Down with the priests! Down with land owners! Down with the rich!"

So far as possible they suited their actions to their motto. Archbishop Darboy and other priests were shot, and the churches closed throughout the city of Paris. Much property was confiscated. It will be seen that the Commune is intensely anti-Catholic, and generally anti-religious. In the first Reign of Terror the Catholic priests were murdered and the property of the church confiscated. This was repeated in the revolution of 1848. The opposition of the Commune to monarchy in the past has always been associated with opposition to the papacy. This is not strange, for the name of the papacy is the very synonym of despotism. The present condition of the papacy in Italy is due to the Commune. The Catholics admit this. The war between these antagonistic elements must go on to the bitter end!

The Communists announced as their design the establishment of a "universal republic." This proves that they aim at the overthrow of all existing order. They call themselves 'Red Republicans.' Their flag is red!—fit name and color for so bloody a system!—The 'Great Red Dragon!' Every country in Europe has this element largely developed. Italy is full of it, inspired by the presence of Garibaldi and other acknowledged leaders, to whose work the papacy may attribute its downfall. Spain has it almost strong enough to overthrow the government. England, Austria, Prussia, Russia and other nations have it more or less. In France it is temporarily defeated, but not conquered! It bides its time to make another demonstration. The more it is persecuted the more it seems to prosper. To scatter its forces is but to spread its doctrines and its ideas. Its weapons are sword and fire! Witness its recent operations in Paris. When the sword failed, men and women ran about the city with bottles of petroleum and set it on fire! Desperation characterized all their movements. Despising all law, they scruple at no means which promises success. Let us now notice more of the working of this society in this country. As many theories of the Chicago fire have been advanced, we will call the attention of the readers of the ARGUS to one which, though it may not be true, has for its support as plausible evidence as some others. The following appeared in the Washington (D. C.) "Chronicle" of Nov. 4, 1871:

"The following extravagant narrative, which we give in an abbreviated form, is taken from the Chicago 'Times,' which paper devotes a column and a half in fine type to its exciting details, and adds—constantly on hand; such as Needles, Thread, Oil and Machinery. Broadway, New Brighton. [apr17;2w.

Official Returns.—The following are the sworn returns of the sales of the various sewing machine Companies for the year 1871, which are made under the pressure granted to them by the owners of the various sewing machine patents:

Singer Sewing Machine	181,209
Wheeler & Wilson	125,586
Elias Howe	6,720
Grover & Baker	7,656

Empire	2,965

In 1870 the Singer Manufacturing Co. sold 127,833 machines. The increase for the present year amounts to 53,427 sales made.

The Grover & Baker sold 6,564 machines less than in the year previous. The Elias Howe fell off on annual sales 7,136 machines. The Florence did not sell so many machines by 1,713, and the business of the Etna fell off to the tune of 1,086 machines. Some other makes show slight increases. Breach of Promise.—The Presbytery of Westmoreland in connection with the United Presbyterian Church, yesterday was in session at Mount Pleasant and had before its ecclesiastical consideration, a breach of promise case from the session of the United Presbyterian Church, of Plum township, a district in which the sanctified elements appear to be rather disturbed. The parties to this case were a farmer named Stewart and a young lady who resided in the immediate neighborhood. Both belong the intelligent class of society and are respectably connected. Some time ago they met; and, fancying that their matrimonial alliance would be attended by good results to both, alike of a spiritual and temporal character decided on union. Subsequently this scheme was disarranged; the course of true love did not run smoothly, as had been anticipated, and they agreed to dissolve their pledges. Mr. Stewart claims that he was formally released by the young lady, but nevertheless she took umbrage at the withdrawal of his allegiance and laid him brought before the local session which suspend his relations with the Church. He appealed to the Presbytery, and it was to consider his appeal that the latter body yesterday assembled at Mount Pleasant, in Westmoreland. The case has thus far attracted a great deal of attention, though how it will terminate is not known. Mr. Stewart's friends incline to the belief that he has the best of it.—Pittsburgh Dispatch, April 10.

Democratic Convention.—The Democracy of this county met in Convention in Beaver on last Monday for the purpose of selecting delegates to the State Convention to be held at Reading in May. Sheriff Graebing was selected Representative and W. B. Dunlap Senatorial delegate to the convention referred to. They were instructed to vote for Hon. William McClelland for Governor. The vote standing 31 for McClelland, 32 for Cass, and 18 for Gibson. Any amount of sparring took place in the convention, and if in times past it could be truthfully said that the Democracy of this county were harmonious, we judge from what took place last Monday, that that day is over. It was moreover a funny affair, and as between the two wings of the party, it seemed to us a drawn battle.

We keep Men's, Youth's, Boy's and Children's Clothing in great variety, at the usual reasonable prices, at S. & J. Snellenburg's, Broadway, New Brighton.

Captain Shrodes.—The first boat that went through the old Louisville canal was the Lucas, owned in Pittsburgh, and commanded by Henry G. Beer; Pilots, John Shrodes and Henry Klinefelder. The boat left Louisville December 20, 1830, and reached Portland December 24, being four days passing through. She broke both water-wheel shafts. The canal company paid all expenses, and gave Captain Beer $200 each. Captain Beer and Klinefelder have long since passed away. Captain Shrodes is still living at Phillipsburg, Beaver county, Pa., and is one of the oldest tow-boat pilots, and has been engaged in the towing trade ever since the navigation.—Wellsville Union.

The friends of Woman Suffrage throughout the State are requested to send their names and post-office address to the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association, 700 Arch St., Philadelphia. Those wishing documents or specimen copies of the Woman's Journal will be supplied.

Elders, Elected.—At a meeting of the Presbyterian congregation of this place on Saturday last, the following new elders were elected: Darius Shingle, Jas. Robertson, Wm. Hunter and Charles C. Moore. All of the above gentlemen we are personally acquainted with and must say that we think the selection good.

These gentlemen are young and earnest workers in the cause. We have not learned when they will be ordained.—Conservative.

Committed to Jail.—Isaac Schley, son of Thomas Schley of Bridgewater, was committed to jail on last Wednesday, on an information made by his father, to await the action of the court at its June term. The information states that Isaac, who is about 18 years of age, is in the habit of abusing his mother, and all others occasionally, who are inferior to him in physical strength.

Another Landmark Gone.—One by one the last vestiges of early days are giving way before the march of improvement. The buildings on Fifth Avenue, between Market street and Market alley, date their existence back to 1803, being the oldest buildings on Fifth avenue. In 1848 these—then old log buildings—were remodeled by J. M. Roberts (now deceased) and occupied by him and his successor until the present day. The log-and-frame buildings were torn down on Saturday, to be replaced by a massive four-story iron and brick structure. In consequence of this, Mr. E. P. Roberts has removed his business stock to doors above the old stand, to No. 22 Fifth avenue, until the completion of the new building. This new store has been nicely fitted up, and with its large stock of goods is quite attractive. The new building will be finished about September 1st, when Mr. Roberts will open one of the finest Jewelry houses in the city.—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

JUST OPENED.—Messrs. Bert & Walsh have just opened a Merchant Tailoring Establishment in Kinsley's building, opposite Stenson's confectionery, in which may be found a full line of Cloths Cassimeres, Tweeds, Cheviots, Diagonals, also, of Gents' Furnishing Goods—Cutting of all descriptions done to order. Liver Complaint.—In this disease there is a peculiar cachectic condition of the blood which gives rise to a long train of diversified symptoms.

The countenance becomes sallow, the eyes have a yellowish tinge, the whole skin becomes changed in color and appearances, and not unfrequently terminate in a jaundiced condition of all the excretions, but especially the urine.

Dyspepsia soon sets in, sometimes coughs similating Consumption, Dropsy, with its usual symptoms of swelling in feet and legs—Asthmatic difficulties, Costiveness, Piles, &c. These many times so far change the symptoms in every other respect as to make it difficult for the physician to arrive at the true nature of the case by the pulse and tongue alone.

A mere ocular inspection of the urine in this disease, however, is nearly always sufficient to determine the nature of the case, and many times to give a very correct opinion of the extent of the mischief also.

The melancholy which is so apt to take place in Liver Complaint, has often led to erroneous treatment, and the worst of consequences have thus befallen the patient.

We have cured many cases of melancholy amounting even to "derangement of the mind," when the cause was plainly attributable to Liver Complaint alone.

In this disease, as in many others, the urine is so well marked as to denote the character of the disorder long before it is manifested by any other symptom or outward sign.

We have had the examination and treatment of so many cases of this disease and its complications that we have learned the kind of medicines to be used in each particular case not only—but feel satisfied that they can be treated more successfully without, than with, any mercurial preparation whatever.

In fact, our success in this affection numbers thousands of cases, and reliable cures have been made in hundreds of instances, after nearly the last vestige of hope had been exhausted.

For the benefit of those living at a distance laboring under Chronic Affections, and unable to attend in person, we would say: by sending a vial of urine for examination, the necessary medicines can be sent them by express.

SELECT MISCELLANY.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.

The special Report of Hon. Edward Young, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics, on the Customs Tariff legislation of the United States, is now in type and will shortly be issued. It makes an octavo volume of about three hundred pages and presents a synopsis of all important legislative proceedings and debates on the subject of the tariff from the organization of the Government to the present time, together with a tabular appendix showing the rate of duty on each article under each act passed during the same period. Important as the subject is, the history of its legislative treatment has never before been placed before the public in a compact and convenient form. It could only be found by searching through the "Annals of Congress," "Congressional debates" and the files of the "Globe" the "Laws of the United States," and other official records, many of which are practically inaccessible to the general public, while the investigation of the subject through such scattered material, would have been a labor requiring great application and abundant leisure.

The earliest action of Congress upon this subject is introduced by the speeches of Mr. Madison of Va. and Mr. Hartley of Penna. The former of these gentlemen at this time appears as the friend of a very free system of Commerce, and regards it as a truth "that commercial shackles are generally unjust, oppressive and unpolitic." On pages 18-20 is a brief extract of Hon. Alexander Hamilton's celebrated report on manufactures, one of the ablest and most elaborate documents ever issued in support of the policy of protection. Pages 93 5 contain a similar abstract of the report of the Hon. Robert J. Walker, in 1846, a document which has been regarded as one of the ablest official papers in the interest of free trade. It is somewhat curious to find Mr. Calhoun in 1816, opposing free-trade doctrines and earnestly expatiating on the importance of industrial independence as an element of national security, and not less so to see Mr. Webster in his earlier speeches, stoutly resisting a policy of which he subsequently became one of the foremost champions. Mr. Clay, on the other hand, makes his first appearance in connection with such measures as an advocate of "a thorough and decided protection to home manufactures by ample duties." This was early in 1816. In 1824, we find Mr. Buchannan stoutly contending for the interests of the iron manufacturers of Penna., while Mr. Webster takes the opposite side. A few years later come the great debates, which preceded nullification, and extracts are given from the speeches of the leading disputants, Hayne, Calhoun, McDuffie, Webster, Clay, Choate, and others. These extracts, though necessarily brief, indicate clearly enough the spirit and the views that prevailed on either side. A short sketch of the nullification movement in South Carolina, and the action of the National Government in regard to it, is given on pages 86 88

In connection with the adoption of the free-trade tariff of 1846, extracts are given from the speeches of Messrs. Dallas, Bayard, Jones, Lewis of Va., Evans of Me., John M. Clayton, David Webster, McDuffie of South Carolina, and others embracing many of the most important in this exciting and protracted debate. Passing over the [illegible] tariff of 1857, we come to the [illegible] March 2nd, 1861, in which the protective principle again appears in the ascendent, and in the subsequent acts of 1862, '63, '64, as well as in those which have succeeded the close of the war, this principle has been greatly strengthened by the necessity for a large revenue. In treating of this period, Mr Young, in concluding his work gives a history of the organization of the Internal Revenue Bureau and of several acts imposing international taxes. He also treats of the appointment of the Revenue Commission in 1865, and of the special Commissioner of Revenue (Hon. D. A. Wells) in 1866, and notices the reports made by the latter in 1867, '68, '69. Copious extracts are given from the debate in the House on the act of July 14th, 1870, "to reduce internal taxes, and for other purposes," Messrs. Burchard and Allison occupying considerable space in support of the principles of "Revenue Reform" while Messrs. Kelley, Schenk, Maynard and others vigorously sustain the doctrine of protection. The subject of transportation of goods in bond and the bonded warehouse system occupy several pages and the report proper closes with a general view of the present condition of tariff legislation, in connection with which Mr. Young presents statements of the doctrines of the protectionists, free traders and revenue reformers respectively, each statement being furnished by one of the most prominent representatives of the principles therein defined.

The report, as a whole, is a very important contribution to the economic literature of the day, and in view of the prominence which the tariff question is now assuming, is calculated to be of great practical value to the legislator in furnishing him data that will aid him materially in arriving at a just conclusion.

CHIEL.

A Sea Lion Rookery.

It was nearly the end of May, 1851, when we arrived, and soon after, the rookery of clap matches, which were scattered around the island, began to augment, and large numbers of the huge males made their appearance, belching forth their sharp, ugly barks, and leaping out of, or darting through the water with surprising velocity and frequently diving outside of the rollers, the next moment emerging from the foaming breakers, and waddling up the beach, or, with seeming effort, climbing some kelp-fringed rock, to doze in the scorching sunbeams, while others would lie sleeping or playing among the beds of seaweed, with their heads and outstretched limbs above the surface.

But a few days elapsed before a general contention began for the mastery of the different rookeries, and the victims of the bloody encounters were to be seen on all sides of the island, with torn lips, or mutilated limbs and gashed sides; while, now and then, an unfortunate creature would be met with, minus an eye, or with the orb turned out of its socket, together with other wounds, presenting a ghastly appearance. As the time of "hauling up" drew near, the island became one mass of animation, every beach, rock and cliff where a seal could find a foothold, became its resting place, while a countless herd of old males capped the summit, and the united clamorings of the vast assemblage could be heard, in a calm day, for miles at sea. The south side of the island is high and precipitous, with a projecting ledge, hardly perceptible from the beach below, upon which one immense lion managed to climb, and there remained for several weeks—till the season was over. How he ascended, or in what manner he retired to the water, was a mystery to the numerous ship's crew, as he came and went in the night! for "Old Gray"—as named by the sailors—was closely watched in his elevated position during the time when the men were engaged at their work on shore.—Overland Monthly.

The celebrated Dr. Barnes, being inclined to sleep during a dull sermon, a friend who was with him joked him on having nodded now and then. Barnes insisted that he had been awake all the time. "Well, then," said his friend, "can you tell me what the sermon was about?" "Yes, I can," he answered, "it was about an hour too long."

Josh Billings.—The Pole Kat.

My friend, did you ever examin the fragrant pole kat clussly?

I guess not, they are a kritter who won't bear examining with a microskope.

They are beautiful beings, but oh! how deceptive.

Their habits are phew, but unique.

They bild their houses out ov earth, and the houses have but one door tew them, and that is a front door.

When they enter their houses they don't shut the door after them.

They are called pole kats bekause it iz not convenient tew kill them with a klub, but with a pole, and the longer the pole the more convenient.

Writers on natral history disagree about the right length of the pole tew be used, but I would suggest that the pole be about 365 feet, espeshily if the wind iz in favor ov the pole kat.

When a pole kat is suddenly walloped with a long pole, the fust thing that he, she, or it duz, is tew embalm the air for menny miles in diameter, with an akrimonious oilfaktory refreshment which permeates the ethereal fluid with an entirely original smell.

This smell iz less popoular in the fashionable word than lubins extrakt, but the day may cum when it will be bottled up, like musk, and sold for 87½ cents per bottle; bottles small at that.

A pole kat will remove the filling from a hens egg, without breaking a hole in the shell bigger than a marrow fat pea.

How this iz did, historians hav left us to doubt.

This iz vulgarly called "surking eggs."

This iz an accomplishment known among humans, which it iz said they have learnt from the pole kats.

Pole kats also deal in chickens, yung turkeys, and yung goslins.

They won't tuch an old goose, they are sound on that question.

Man iz the only pholfour who will attempt tew bight an old goose, and his teeth fly oph a grate menny times before he loosens enny ov the meat.

A pole kat travels under an alias, which iz called skunk. There is a grate menny aliases that there iz no accounting for, and this iz one of them.

I have kaught skunks in a trap. They are easier to git into a trap than to git out ov it.

In taking them out ov a trap grate judgement must be had not tew shake them up; the more yu shake them up the more ambrosial they am.

One pole kat in a township is enuff, espeshily if the wind changes once in a while.

A pole kats skin iz with 2 dollars in market, after it iz skined,—but it iz with 2 dollars and 50 cents tew skin him.

This iz one way tew make 12 shillings in a wet day.

Religious Persecution in Japan.

The Missionary Herald for April contains a letter which seems to confirm the account in the Overland Mail, of the recent persecution of native Christians by the Government of Japan. Mr. Green and Mr. Gulich write from Kope, under date of January 18. They state that a month previous, sixty-five Roman Catholics, all men of standing and heads of families, were seized near Nagasaki, put on board of steamers and carried into exile from which, so far, no Japanese Christian has ever returned. It is two years since the arrest and deportation of the 4,000 taken from Nagasaki, the survivors of which number have, it is supposed, ever since been suffering the rigors of Japanese prison life. Immediately after that occurrence, Iwakura, formerly Prime Minister of the Japanese Government, and at present the head of the Embassy to Europe and America, affirmed that the Council of State had "agreed to stop these proceedings against the Christians, and an officer would leave on the morrow to suspend them." Afterward it was claimed that this promise was only on agreement that no more Christians should be arrested in the future. But even in this view of it, what becomes of the promise now? It is reported that the rest of the inhabitants of the village, numbering two thousand, will be deported as soon as the authorities should have sufficient means of transport. As yet, however, there has been no intelligence of any further arrests.

Trials of a Youthful Lover.

A young Romeo residing upon Garden street, whose voice has just commenced to change, and sings anywhere along the scale from falsetto to the home bass, purchased a forty dollar guitar a few weeks since, and last week thought he would serenade his Juliette, who lives on the same street. Hastily chewing a few bronchial troches to clear his pipes, he crept within the shade of a bay window and nervously began clawing the instrumental chords, while he softly tipped a ballad to his charmer inside. He had just sung—when he became convinced that there was sole leather soaring about through the atmosphere also, and before he could strike the chorus he found the stuffing kicked out of his guitar, and himself in the road using his nose as a shovel plow. The girl's father had returned from down town at an unusually late hour—hence the result. The warbler is now practicing on the concertina and getting his pants half-soled with sheet iron. He says he will make the old man sick if the bellows don't go back on him.

"There's music in the midnight air,"

—Cleveland Leader.

MELANGE.

A foper sneered at a young man for wearing spectacles, when the latter said, "it is better to wear glasses over the nose as I do, than under the nose as you do."

"Mr. Jones," said Mrs. Jones, with an air of triumph, "don't you think marriage is a means of grace?" "Well, yes," growled Jones, "I suppose anything is a means of grace that breaks down pride and leads to repentance."

An Irishman in writing a letter to his sweetheart, asking whether she would accept of his love or not, writes thus: "If you don't love me, plaze send back the letter without breaking the seal."

An Illinois youth has been wearing a fine plaided shirt, which opened in the back, "hind side before" for more than a year. He said he thought they had laid out a good deal of work on the back.

A veteran observer says: "I never place much reliance on a man who is telling what he would have done had he been there. I have noticed that somehow this kind of people never get there.

A proposition to light the streets of an Indiana "City," was opposed by the common council, on the ground that thieves would be enabled to see when they were watched and consequently it would be impossible to catch them.

An old bachelor out West became so alarmed at the persistent efforts of a widow to marry him, that he turned over all of his property to her and then ran away, leaving word that he had left the property so that she need not follow him.

A young man applied for a marriage license in Cambria, but the clerk reminded him of two previous applictions. "Yes," was the reply, "the other two girls didn't know that I wanted to get married, till I showed them the document, but this one does."

An exchange says in the course of a brief editorial explanation to a poet whose contribution is declined: "We cannot print your poem on 'A Drowned Boy.' In the first place you speak of your subject as 'floating on the water,' and in the second as 'lying on his bier.' Which is it water or beer?"

VINEGAR BITTERS
VEGETABLE — FREE FROM — ALCOHOL
PURELY — DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA — PURE
VINEGAR BITTERS
Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Fusel Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.
No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.
For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, this Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.
For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.
They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Blood Diseases.
For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
Grateful thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.
Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system for so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is impossible for the health of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slime deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. Such a purge, as these Bitters, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.
Mechanical Diseases. Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Typesetters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, will be subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.
VINEGAR BITTERS are to be had of all Druggists and Dealers everywhere. Ask for VINEGAR BITTERS, and take no other.
